SCHOOL BUS

Clusters of buildings beckoned
To the thousands who could not quite comprehend that summer was actually over.
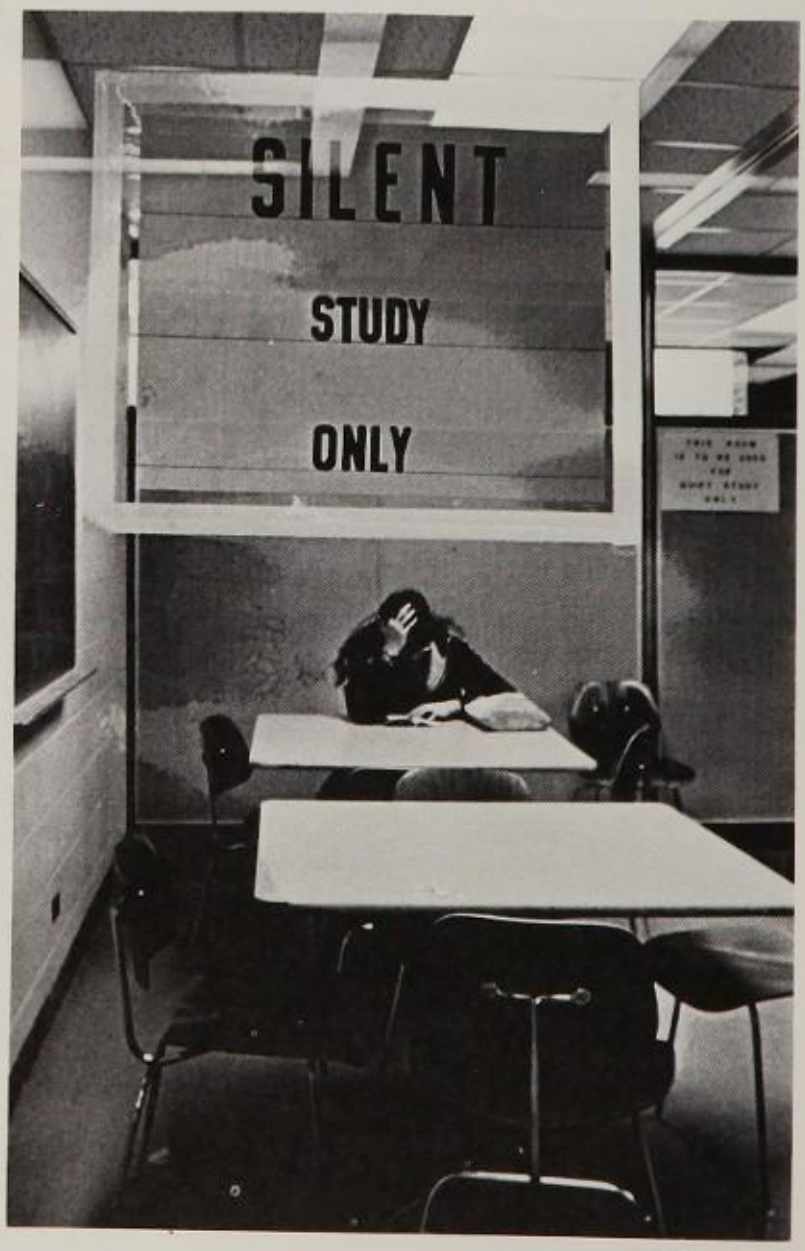
Classes, tests, and papers repaced
Warm sun, volleyball, sleep.
Some regretted it.
Others faced September with fresh vitality.
But it was a fact.



SILENT
ONLY

It was a year of
Cheering for the team,
Absorbing the outdoors,
Fooling around,
Having papers analyzed and graded,
Waiting for the coke machine man,
Standing,
Studying, and Streaking.

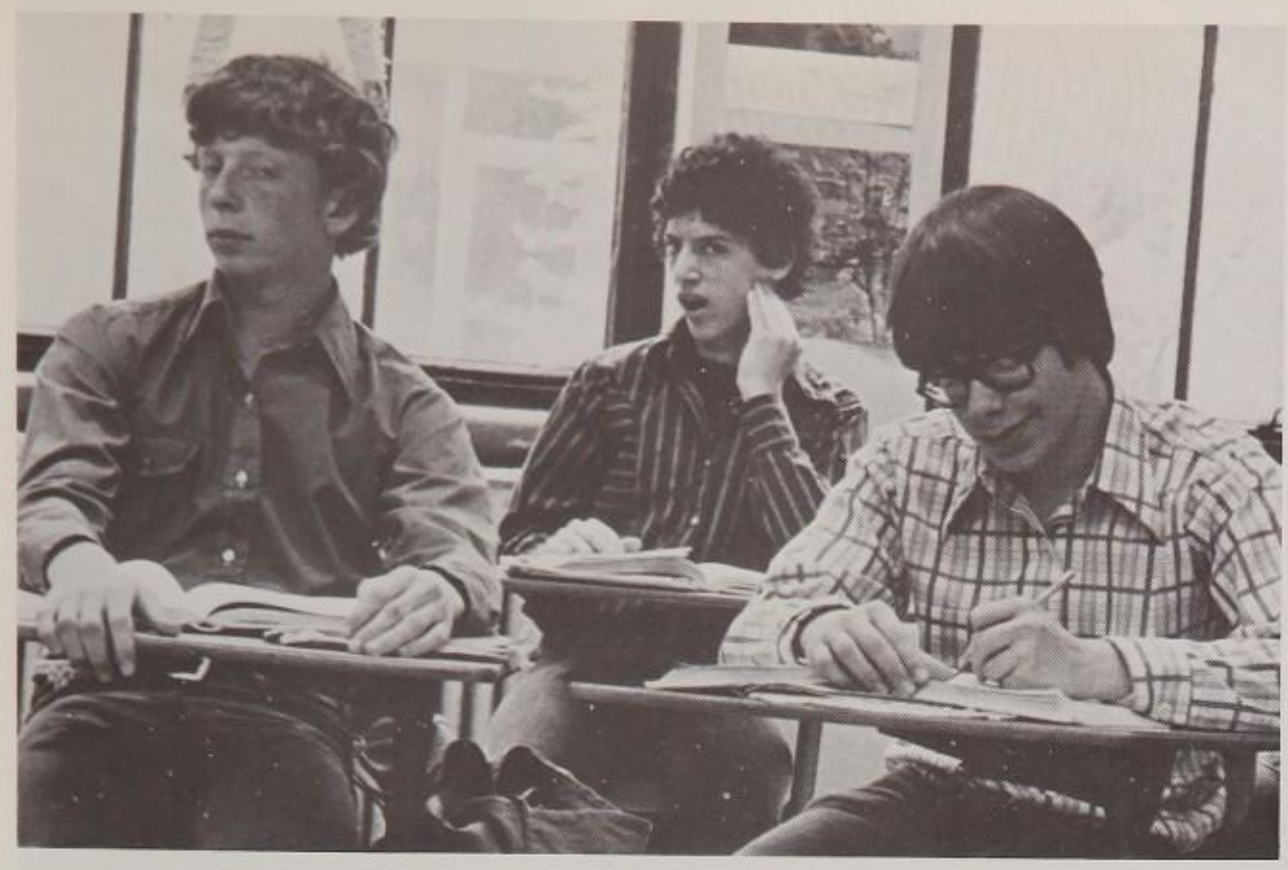
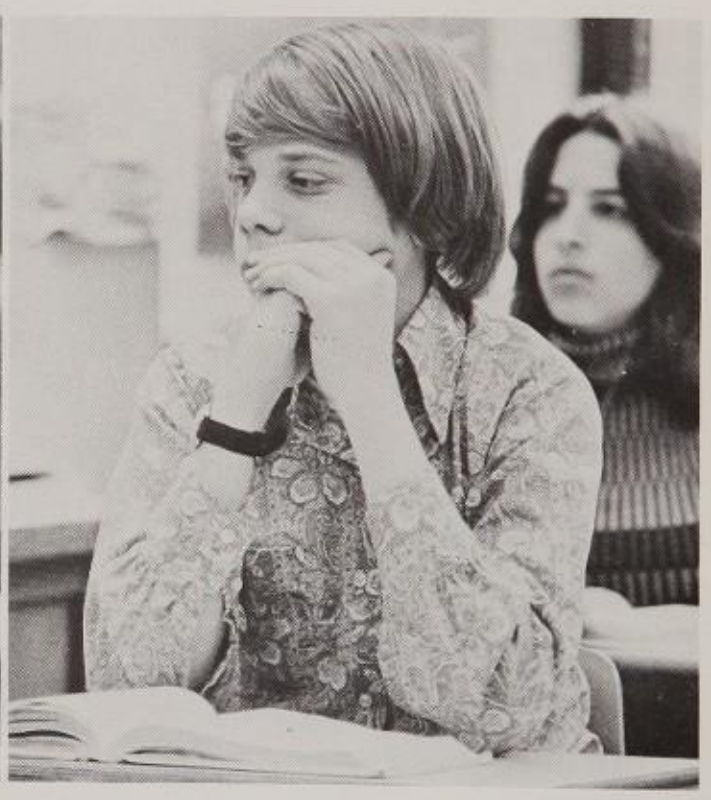
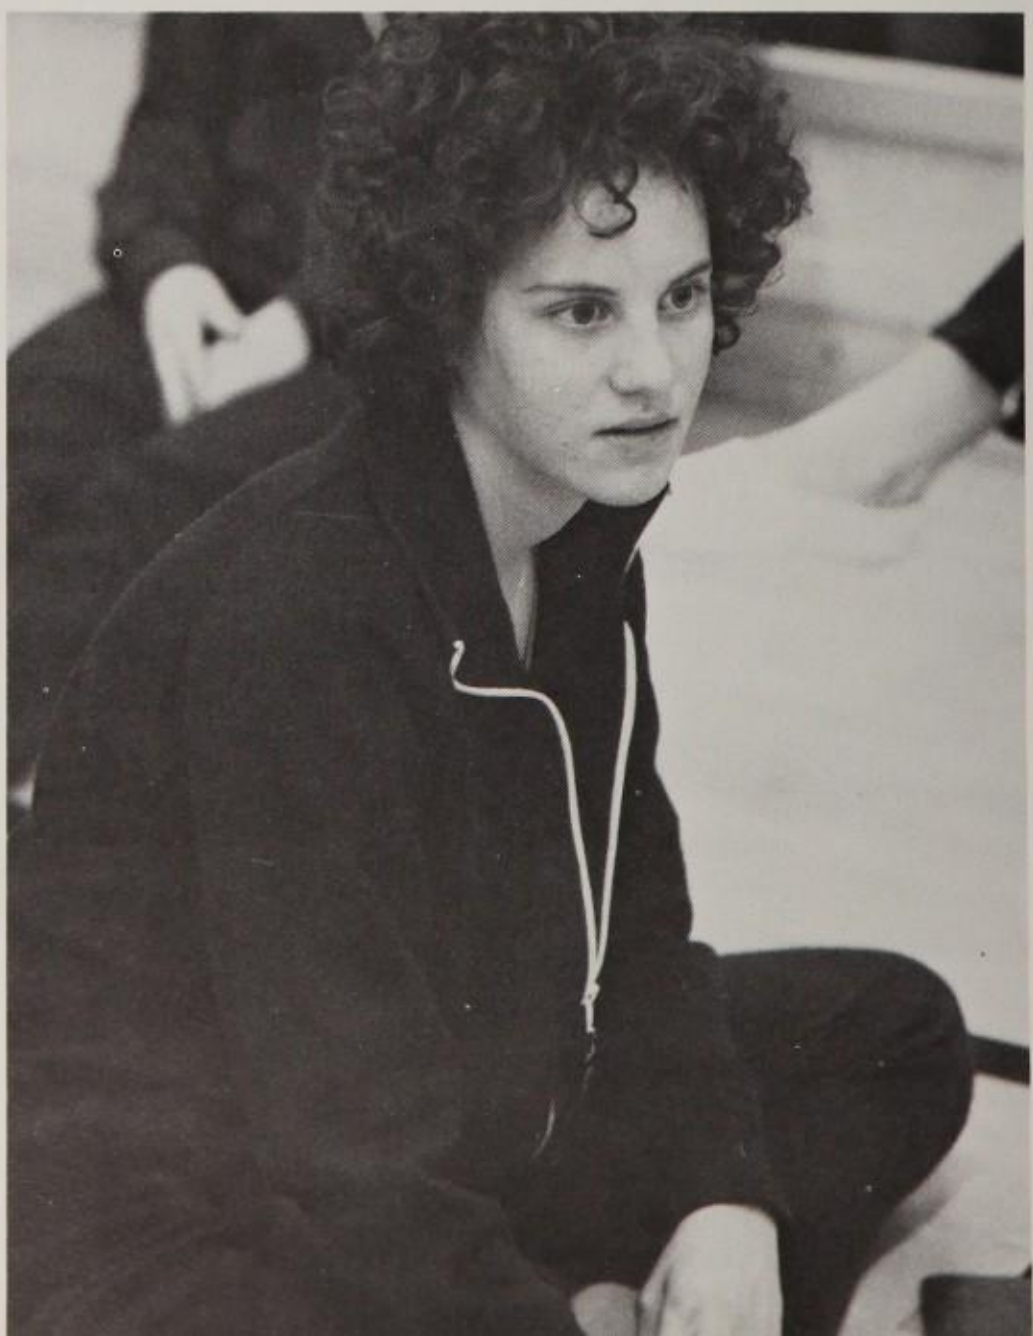
Days were often exciting—
Discussions very demanding—
Lectures usually exhilarating···
To the point of exhaustion.

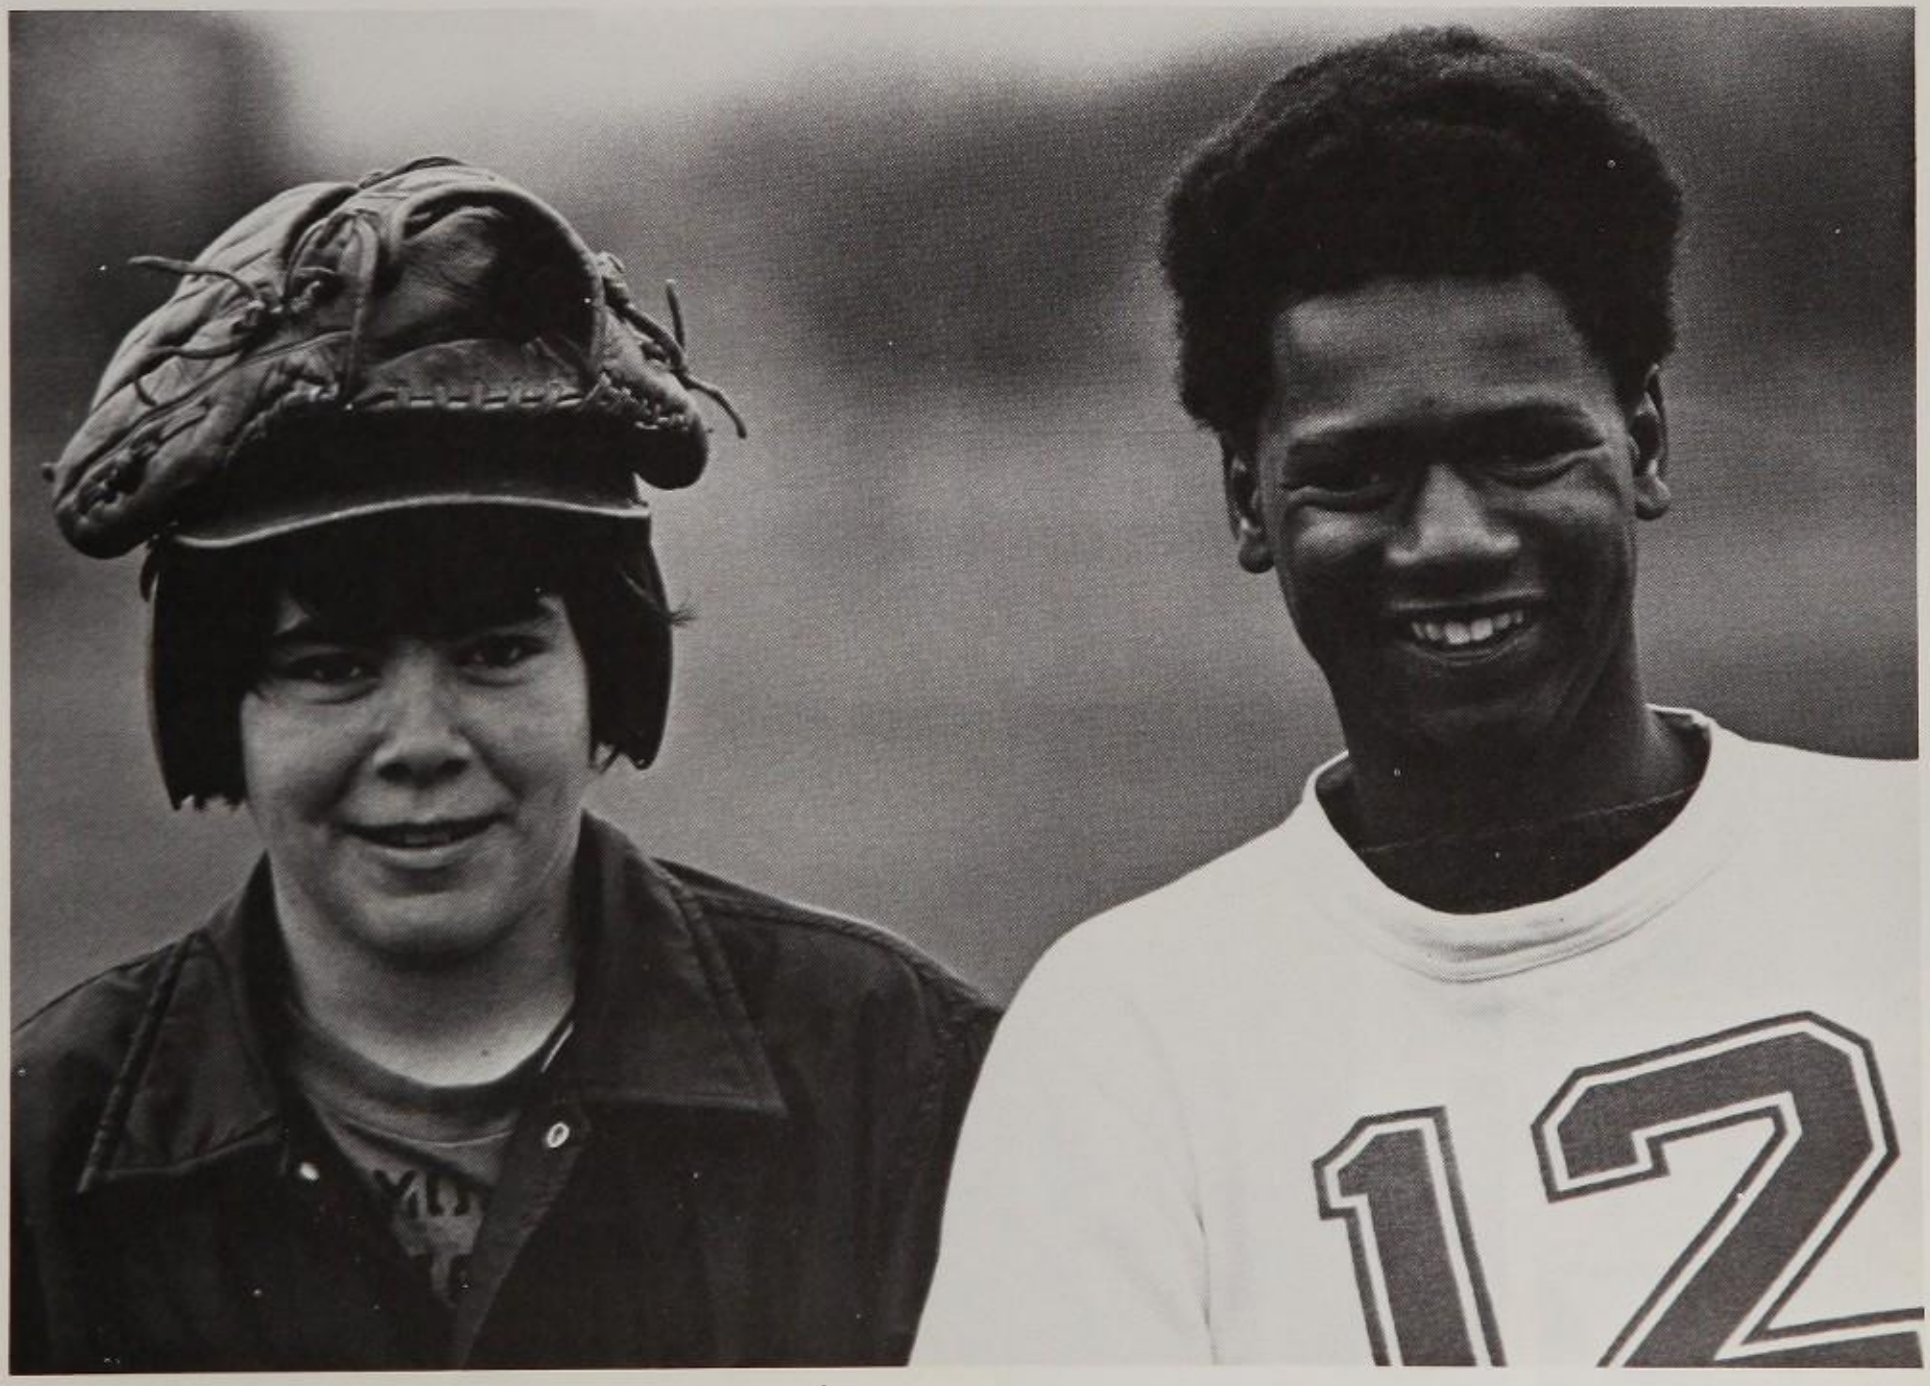




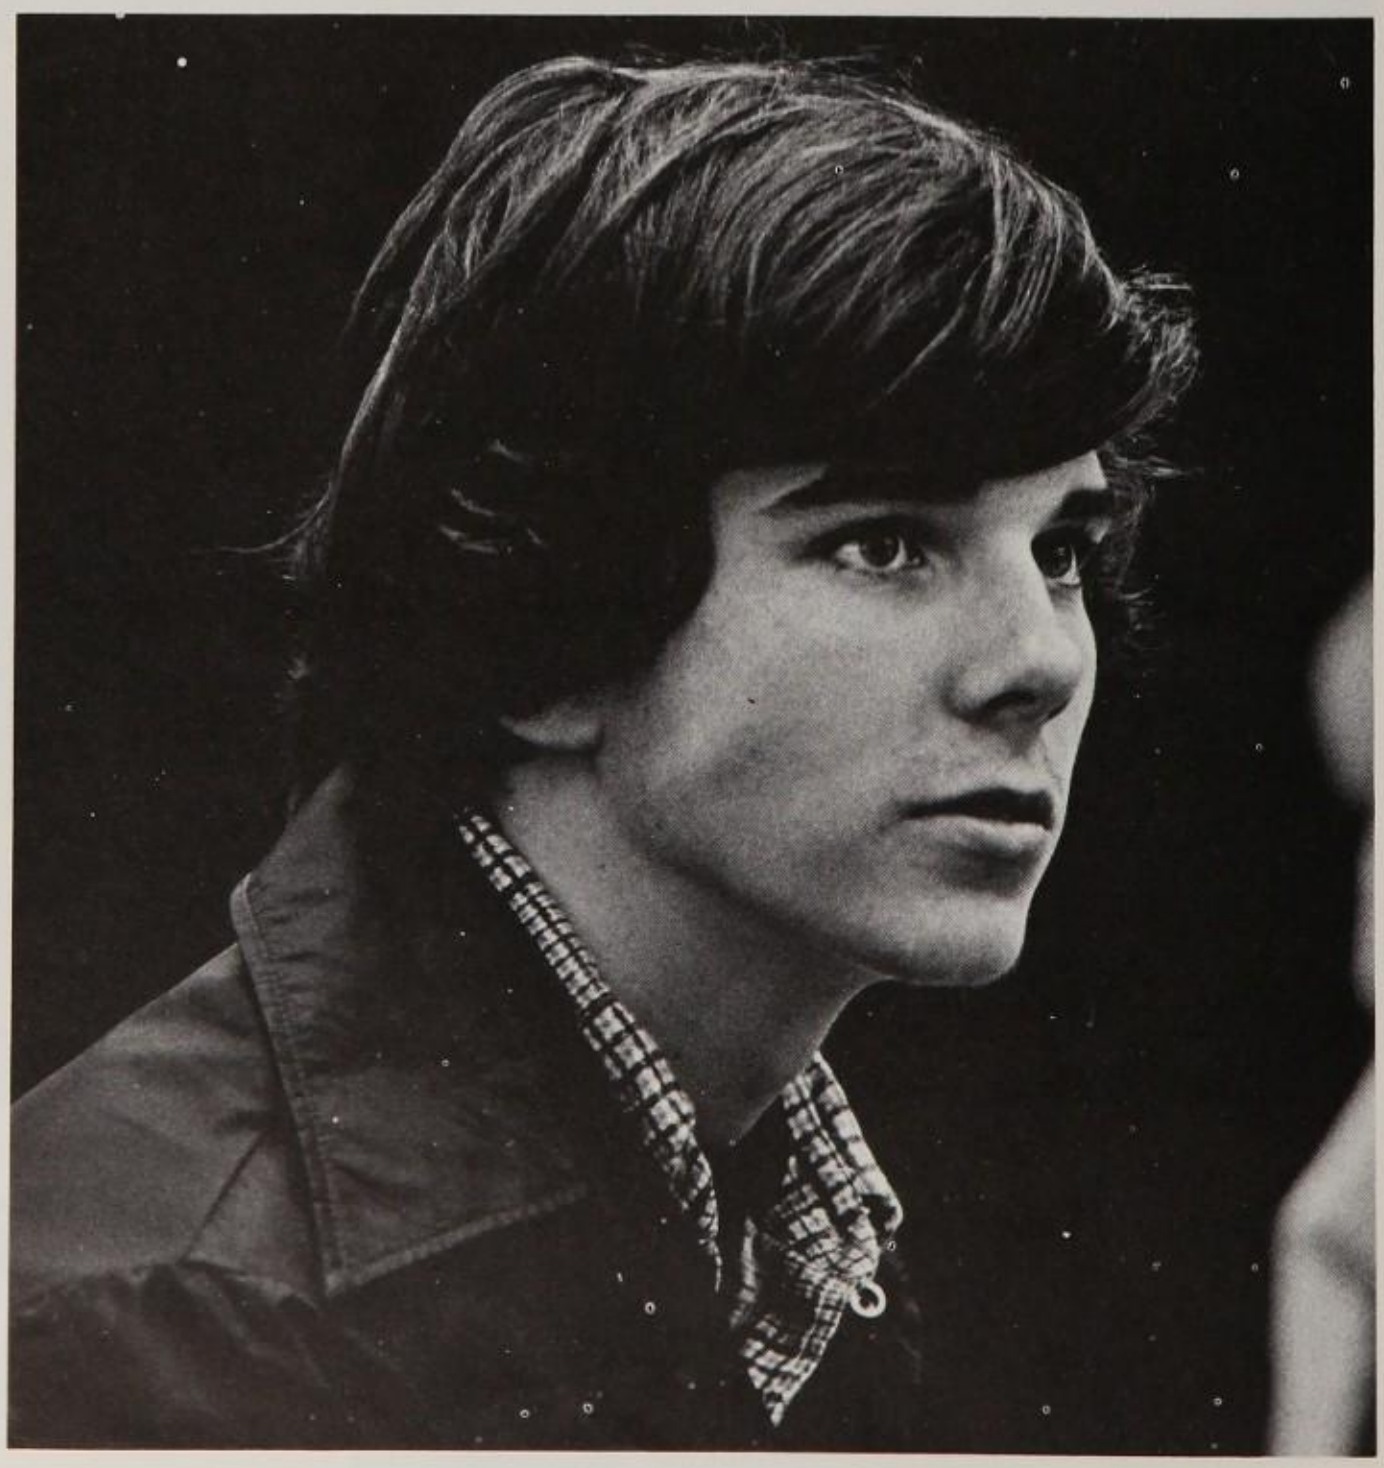
With $189.50 down,
you'll be sitting pretty.



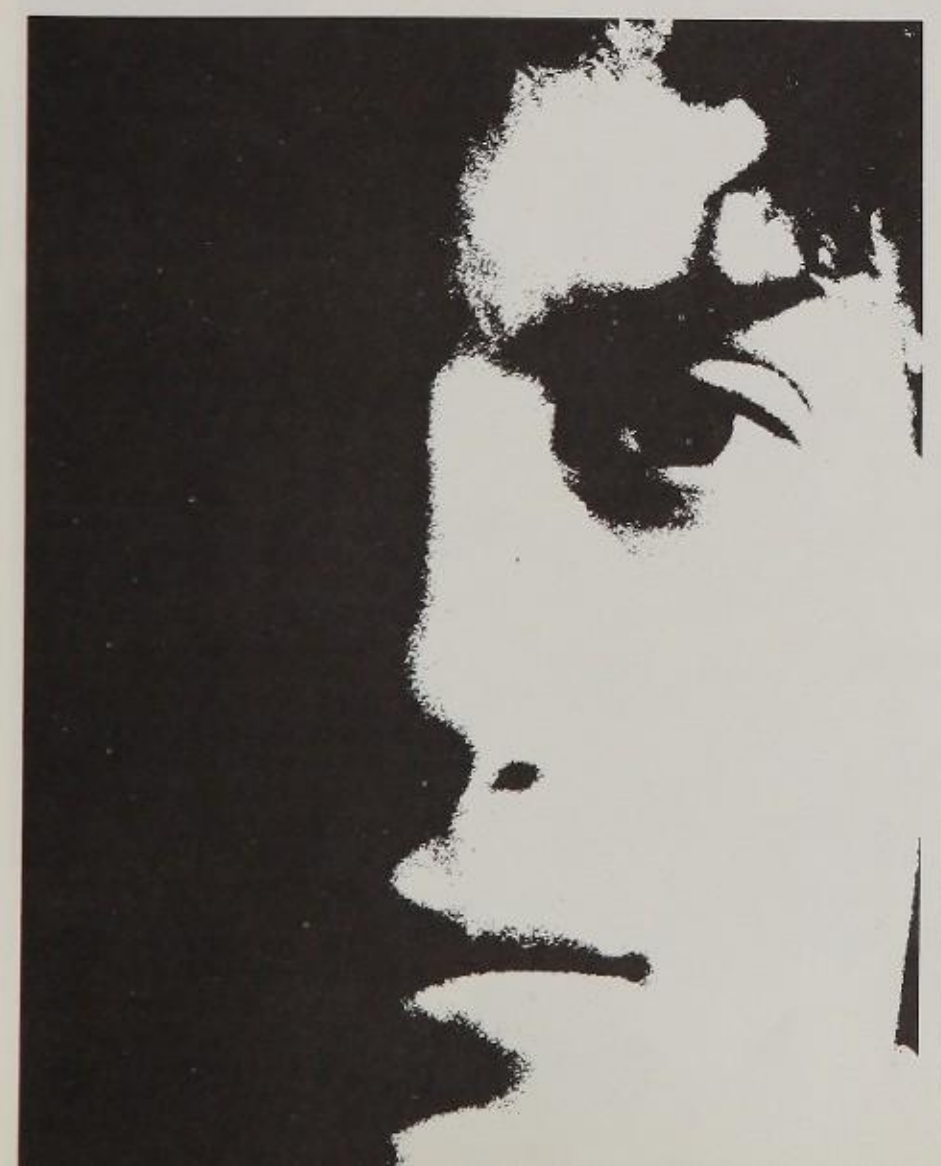
We began as freshmen:
Apprehensively eager, curious, scared.

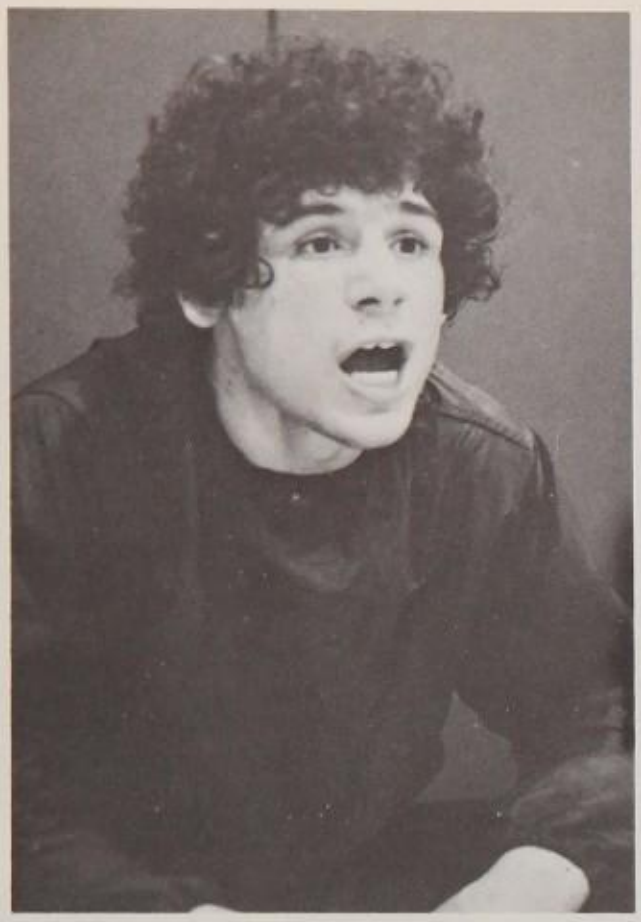


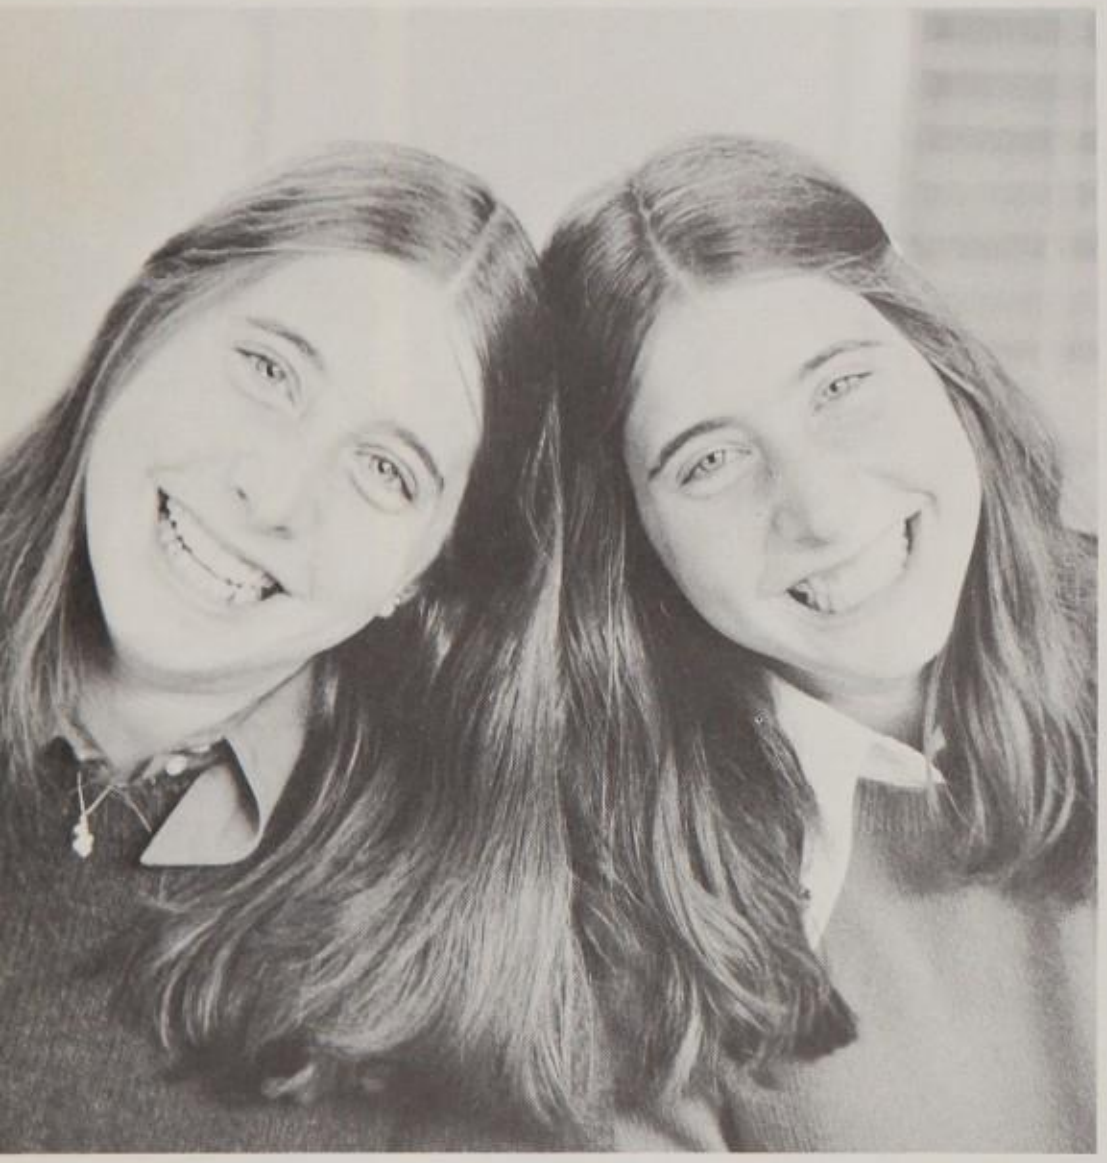
Then we were sophomores:
Safely smug. experienced. relieved.



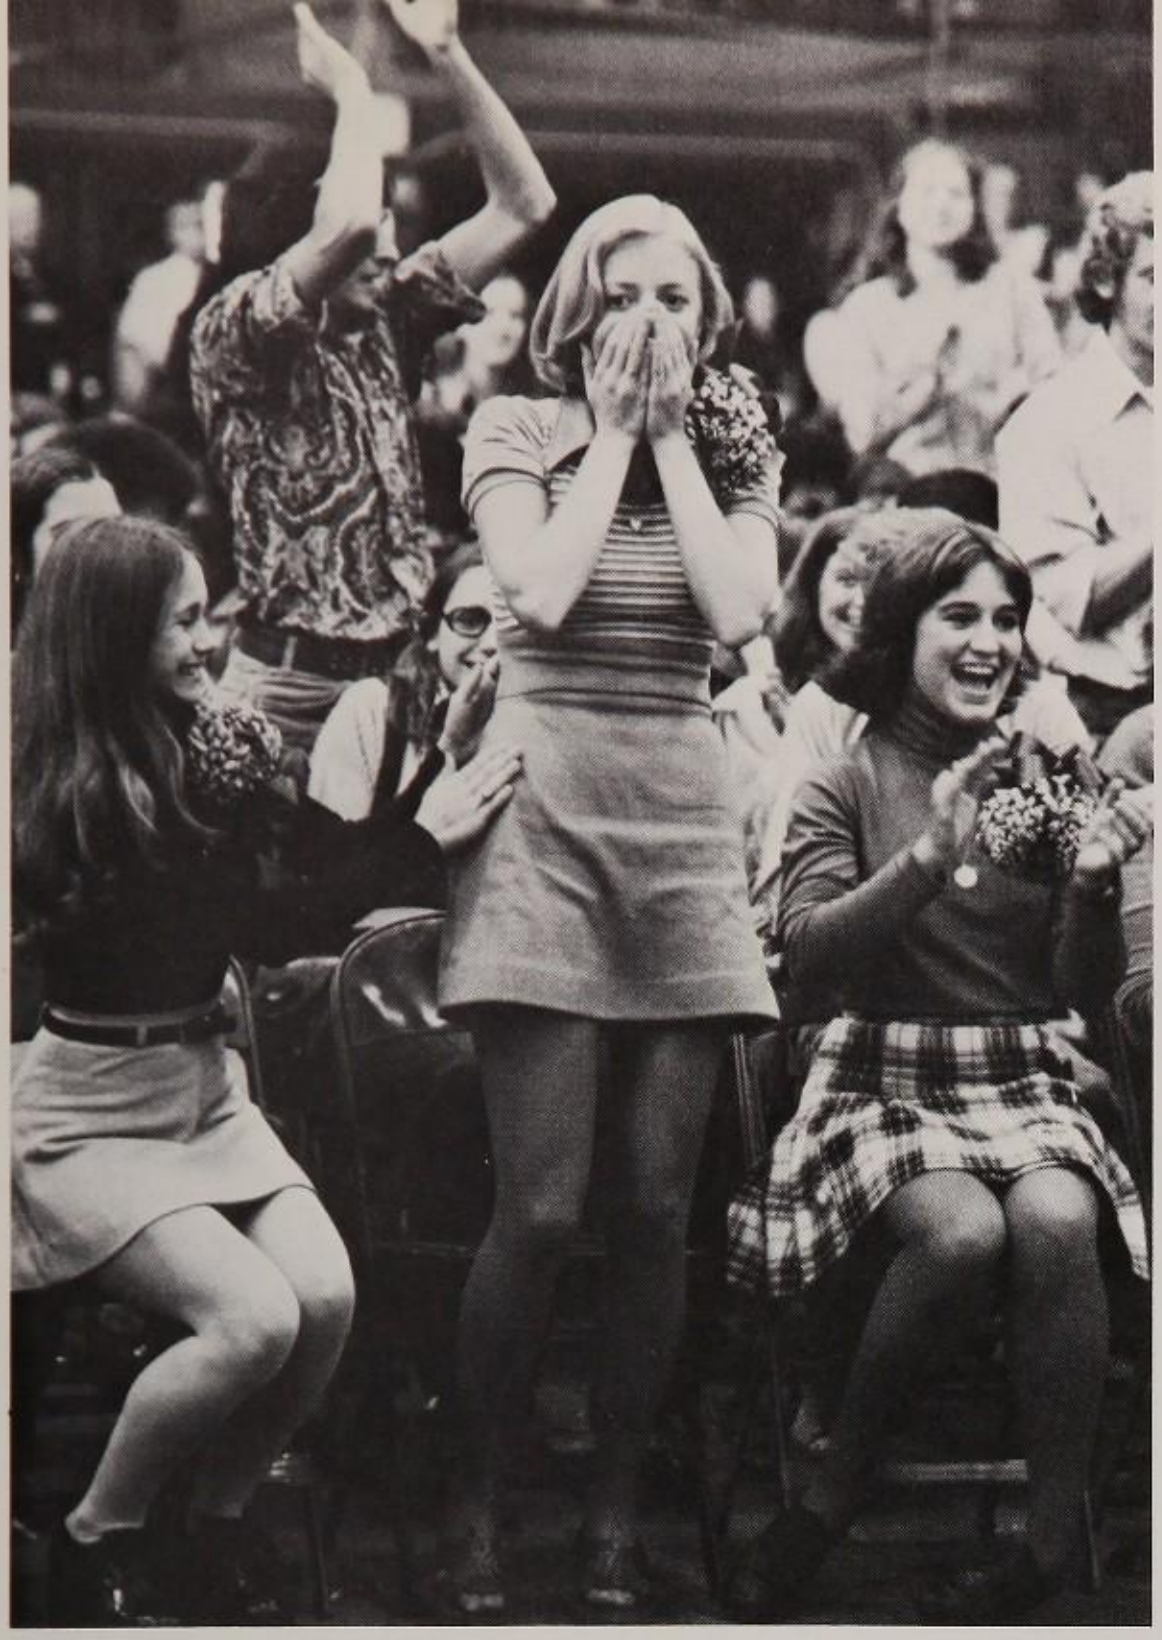
Finally. upperclassmen:
Grade-conscious. secure. jokers.

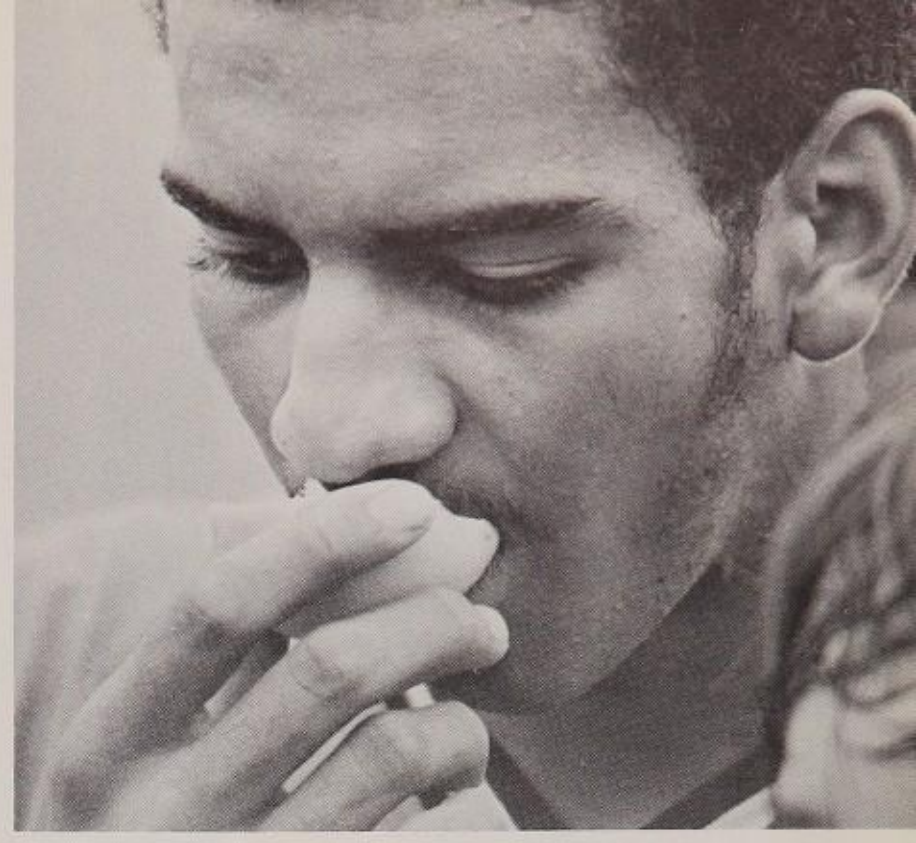


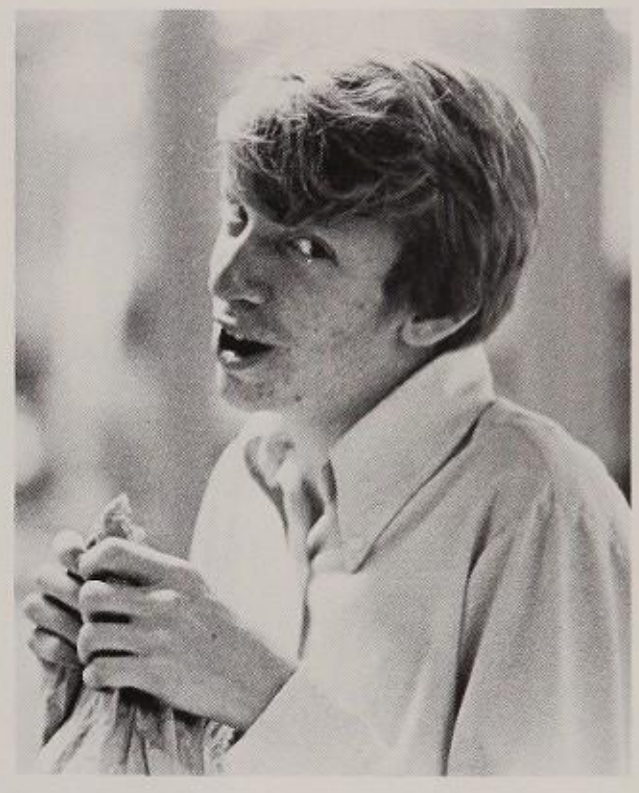




And suddenly, seniors:
silly and serious, sad, scared.







ACADEMICS

Superintendent becomes secretary

Evanston High School lost its superintendent this year as Dr. Scott D. Thomson resigned to take a post as the Associate Secretary for Research and Development of the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Dr. Thomson had been the superintendent of ETHS since the tumultuous year of 1968. Since that time, he has been responsible for dealing with student unrest, the oft-altered modular scheduling, the evening school, and for conducting a democratic administration.

Upon resigning from his post, Dr. Thomson stated that he felt ETHS to be "the most exciting school in the country. No other school has the combination of a diverse student body and such overall excellence."

The Board of Education, the PTSA, and the ETHS Teachers Council sponsored a farewell tea on March 17 for Dr. Thomson. He was presented with an engraved plaque and a large sketch of Evanston High School, made by Michael Senior John Wilen.

Curriculum changes anticipated

The major project of the English department this year involved preparation for an anticipated curriculum restructuring.

The restructuring started with a summer curriculum project. Department Supervisor Clarence Hach and the four school chairmen were struck by the phrase "Teaching is a political activity" which was used in a taped conference of English teachers which they used as a reference.

The phrase triggered the idea of sending questionnaires to graduated four-year English students, their parents, and faculty in order to evaluate all aspects of the curriculum.

"Teachers are not laws unto themselves under a guise of academic freedom," explained Mr. Hach. "This is a day and age of accountability."

The entire English department faculty is now involved in analyzing the data and offering suggestions. Until the project is over, only minor changes are being made, according to Mr. Hach.

Freshmen curriculum expanded

The Social Studies Department flourished this year with enrollment increases, mini-courses, and curriculum changes.

A record number of students signed up for Advanced Placement history courses: 93 and 52 students enrolled in United States and European History AP, respectively.

Mini-courses were offered on the American Indian, Women's Liberation, and the Holocaust, while Current Problems and Twentieth Century Russia increased in popularity.

Department Supervisor Thomas Sharp noted that "factors are operating to interest students and the school in the nature of law and society," accounting for the current response to law, psychology, and ethnic studies in social studies.

Urban geography, anthropology, studies of man, simulation games, and map experiments were among innovative teaching methods used in a new freshmen curriculum, according to Mr. Sharp. Next year's curriculum will include quarterly electives in US History.

CSer's dig into Renaissance

As in previous years, the primary focus of the Combined Studies department this year was involvement in a wide variety of programs and experiences. As part of life in the Renaissance period, students in Ms. Kusterman's, Mr. Gales', and Ms. Barks' freshman C. S. classes created, prepared, and executed a "Renaissance Fair" complete with booths, costumes, and food. Other C.S.er's, under the leadership of Mr. Earle Carlson, participated in a summer long archaeological "dig" in Southern Illinois.

Perhaps the main accomplishment of the department this year was the development of a set of guidelines to more clearly identify the roles of the teacher and the students in decision making. Through the use of both discussions and questionnaires, both the faculty and a large number of students participated in the process that led to this statement.

Computer program introduced

This year, ETHS chemistry students were given an opportunity to experience a computor - assisted chemistry program. The actual computer was located at Northwestern University. Students were able to communicate with the computer through a terminal at ETHS. The computer will eliminate much of the teacher's valuable time. The program included a series of several chemistry problems with six different formulas for each. The program proved to be successful for both students and teachers.

ETHS was chosen as one of eight high schools in the country to participate in the ISIS (Individualized Science Instructional System), representing the midwest. The program was funded by the National Science Foundation. ISIS is a series of experimental mini-courses in science-oriented classes, including physics, biology, chemistry, geology, and others.

Consumer course introduced

This year at ETHS, the Math curriculum was enlarged, providing a variation of several well-known courses. Students who needed to improve their math skills were able to take a consumer math course. The purpose of this course was to further develop consumer-oriented math. The program included insurance, interest rates, and simple shopping manipulation.

The added option of 3 Algebra PC was tested for the first time this year. Students taking Calculus AP were given the opportunity to take either Calculus AB or Calculus BC. Calculus BC was more intensive and covered a broader field than Calculus AB.

ETHS loses only Latin teacher

Last year the foreign language department sponsored the first foreign language fair in the high school's history. All the languages were represented in the fair held in the Little Theatre and E112. The booths ranged from a French cafe to a Russian caviar stand. The problem of space will be eliminated with a move to a larger area.

Ms. Marjorie Minster died very suddenly on Friday April 5, after choking on a piece of food. Joining the ETHS staff in September 1970 as a Latin instructor, she began the school's first etymology classes. Last year she taught etymology along with all four levels of Latin. We will all miss her fine interest and service to the school.

In terms of curriculum, last year a new text was introduced in to the Hebrew program which will eventually phase out the texts previously used. This year, the same will happen to the text used in 1 Spanish.

Freshmen interest sought

The Speech Arts Department seemed to survive the general budget crunch very well this year. Although no courses were added, the staff did increase two members. The new teachers were Mr. Hank Keil and Ms. Robin Hinderyckx.

"Our main concern this year was to involve more freshman", said Mr. William Waack, supervisor of the department. As a result, for the first time in Speech Arts history, there was an all freshman production, "Act One".

Also for the first time, a Speech Arts award was presented. The Wanda B. Mitchell Award was given to the top ranking senior enrolled in Speech Arts. The award was named for Ms. Mitchell who retired as Department Chairman in 1972. The winner is chosen from the best student in each of the four categories of Television, Oral Interpretation, communications, and Theatre.

Streaking "struck" speech arts this year as two students ran nude through their Acting class. As one teacher remarked, "Shakespeare wrote a play about this. He called it "Much Ado about Nothing!"

Band makes Nashville journey

A tour of Nashville Tennessee and the return of a Broadway musical highlighted the past year in the music department

The Symphonic Band took a spring trip to Nashville, playing a series of concerts and touring the recording capitol. The presentation of the musical "Music Man" in April marked the first time in two years there has been a musical production at ETHS.

Despite school budget cutbacks, the department maintained a similar standard of instruction as in past years. A total of 18 credit courses were offered with student enrollment reaching 900.

The addition of an electronic music course next year will give interested students the chance to operate an electronic synthesiser which was not available to all students in the past.

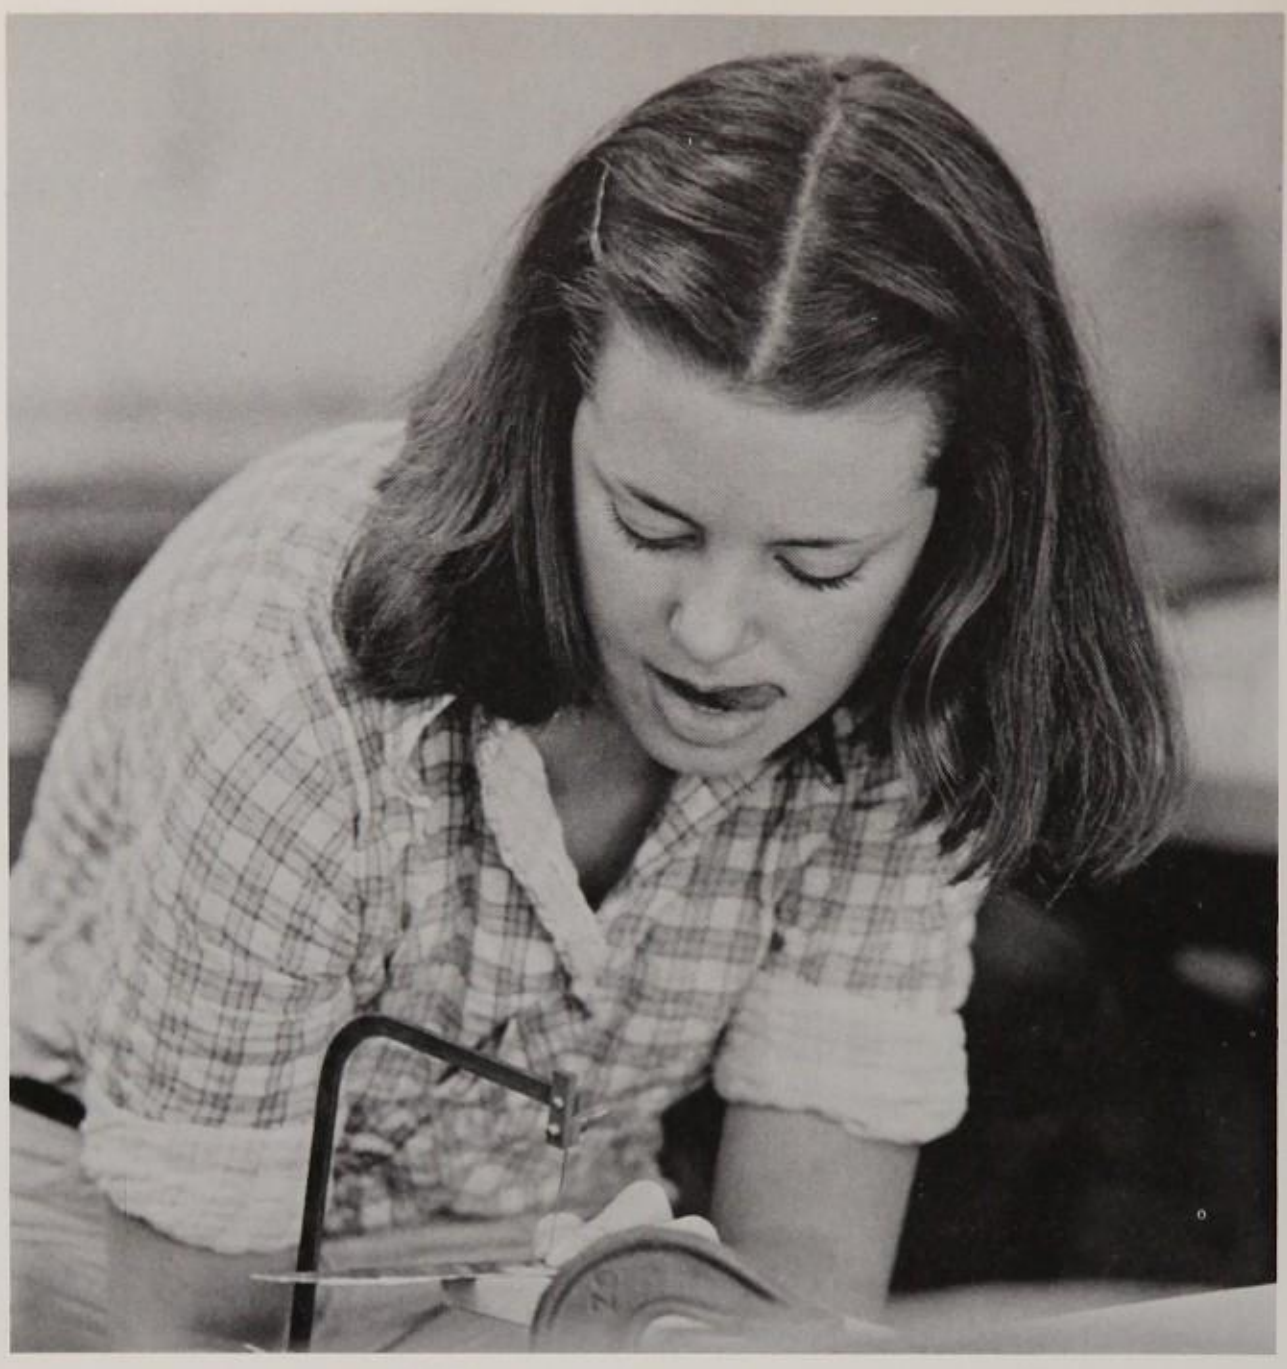
Seniors become teachers



This year, ETHS senior art students were given the opportunity to teach the curriculum for freshman art classes. The courses being taught by seniors are Drawing, Painting, and 1 Art. The students prepared and presented the lessons for an entire week. The program turned out to be quite successful for both the seniors and freshmen.

Students in Michael and Bacon schools participated in the school's first Art Committee. The Committee's principle function was to carry on the artistic oriented activities connected with ETHS. The students design showcases and several art displays throughout the high school.

Marines offer frosh programs

The Boys Physical Education Department continued its excellent teaching program. A very encouraging number of freshmen and sophomores participated in the National Youth Physical Fitness Program sponsored by the Marine Corps and received certificates for their involvement.

The gym program for Freshmen and Sophomores continued its large variety with a special emphasis on teaching all students to swim twenty-five yards. The choice program for the juniors and seniors was continued.

As always, there is a large demand for more extra-curricular sports teams. The vast program was continued this year but the funds for it will not include any new teams.

GPE Head leaves ETHS

Ms. Margaret Bourne, supervisor of Girls PE is retiring after 36 years at Evanston.

She originated the summer school PE program and was responsible for the girls leader program. We wish her well in future years.

The Girls Physical Education Department continued its extensive program this year. They added several new sports such as water polo and creative movement. They also continued canoeing, which proved very popular the year before. They improved the independent study in the swimming program which included an emphasis in the areas of special interest: diving, synchonized swimming, and lifesaving.

The organization for the Junior-Senior program was different in that the program was increased to three days a week, when formerly it had been only two.

Boys, toys invade Home Economics

Independent Living was offered for the first time by the Home Economics and Industrial Arts Departments. The course is a combination of home management, living and maintenance concepts. The response was so overwhelming that some students were turned away.

A toy drive was organized, along with doughnut and button sales, by the Child Development classes to provide toys and raise money for Evanston Day Care Centers.

National College of Education sponsored a toy fair to collect toys for needy Evanston nursery schools. Paula London and Meredith Valentine from ETHS were among the winners of the contest.

Home Ec. Happenings, a monthly newspaper was formed in October of last year to announce activities in the Department.

The boys enrollment doubled with the inclusion of Independent Living and greater interest in the course Foods.

Experimental program introduced

This year ETHS was chosen as one of twenty high schools in Illinois to participate as a Satellite School in the Demonstration Satellite School Project. ETHS will conduct Driver's Ed Programs according to criteria established by the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The project will enable students to experience a new type of program, different from those of the past. The purpose of this program is to further develop, evaluate, and standardize statewide-Driver's Ed curriculum. Mr. Gary McAvoy, Supervisor of Driver's Ed at ETHS, will direct the program.

The range was resurfaced and restripped allowing more traffic to intersect at various places. ETHS is only using small compact cars due to the energy crisis.

Two phase auto class initiated

Students in high school are more realistic about taking vocational courses; the trend is away from everyone going to college, according to Mr. William Clanton, Industrial Arts Supervisor. This is evident in the overall increased enrollment in the industrial arts classes. The doubled enrollment in auto mechanics was reason to add another teacher to the course and split it into two phases. The first course is auto mechanics which is for people who want to become automobile mechanics. The second course is auto vocation which is designed for the student who wants to work in an allied phase of the auto industry. The time block is longer for vocational students and involves what is termed "professional equipment".

Next year students will be able to take a new course, Photographics, which will become a part of the graphic arts department. Next year's freshmen now have the opportunity to any first level industrial arts course. Freshman can then take advantage of the sequential industrial arts programs earlier.

Business Ed looks to future

Of the three million high school graduates in 1972, only 49 percent went on to college. This was the lowest percentage in five years.

ETHS was aware of the fact that in the years between now and 1980 the greatest number of annual jobs will be available to secretaries, stenographers, salesworkers, bookkeepers, and cashiers. In order to provide an alternative for students interested in this field, the Business Education Department developed a comprehensive program with courses such as typing, shorthand, key punch, record keeping and accounting.

There are also courses offered for those who intend to go on to college such as Personal Typing and College Notehand.

DE, OO sweep contests

The vocational programs had a very successful year in both area and state contests. Office Occupations Cooperative won 7 first places and 4 second in the area contest last February. Julie Bond and Diane Settles went on to win second places at the annual state contest held on March 8-9 at the Pick-Congress Hotel. Julie won in typing and clerical skills; Diane won in office duplication.

Distributive Education student Dan Leider was the state winner in the job interview contest held in Springfield. 3 other students who were in the top 25 of this same event were Charles Breit, Donna Brunger, and Terese Manning.

No new vocational classes were added this year but there was more influence on job opportunity placing and counseling data.

Counselors shift to classrooms

The role of counselors in ETHS is to explore all the opportunities available for the individual student. In past years, much of the counselor's time was spent rearranging schedules. This year, the counselors decided to spend more time with the teachers and students inside the classroom. The purpose of this was to involve the counselors with the students in a learning situation, instead of in an office. The program has been effective, especially for incoming freshmen.

For the coming year, course selections and schedules were made in advance in order to avoid last minute changes and to achieve the easiest and most effective method of preparing schedules.

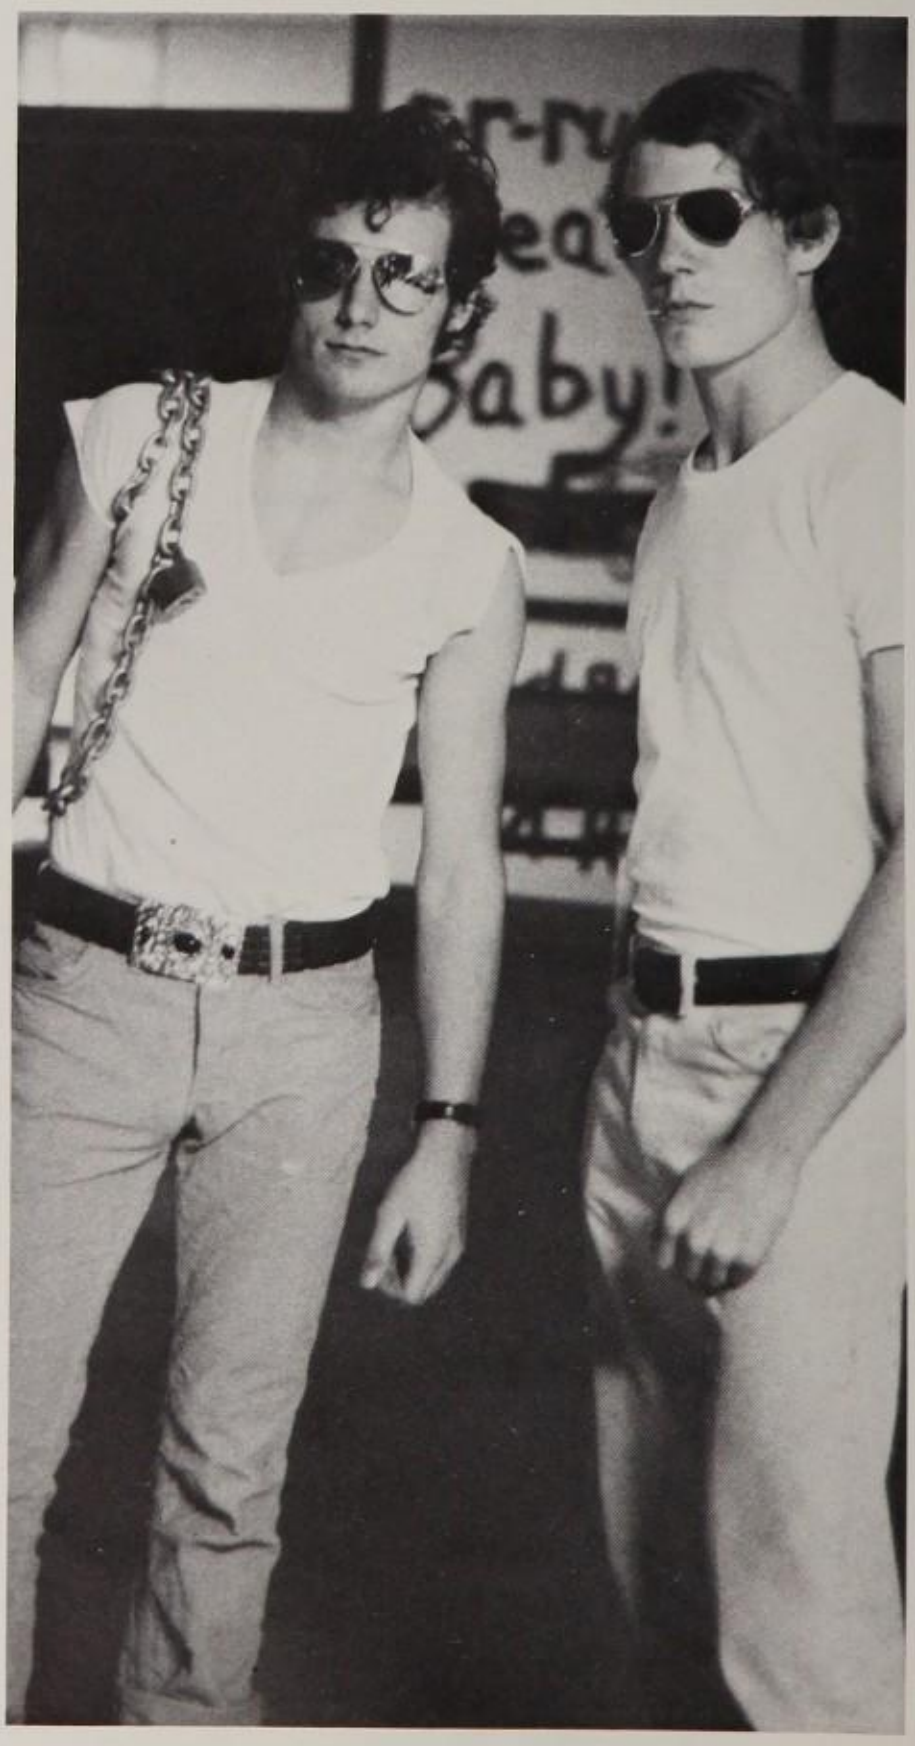
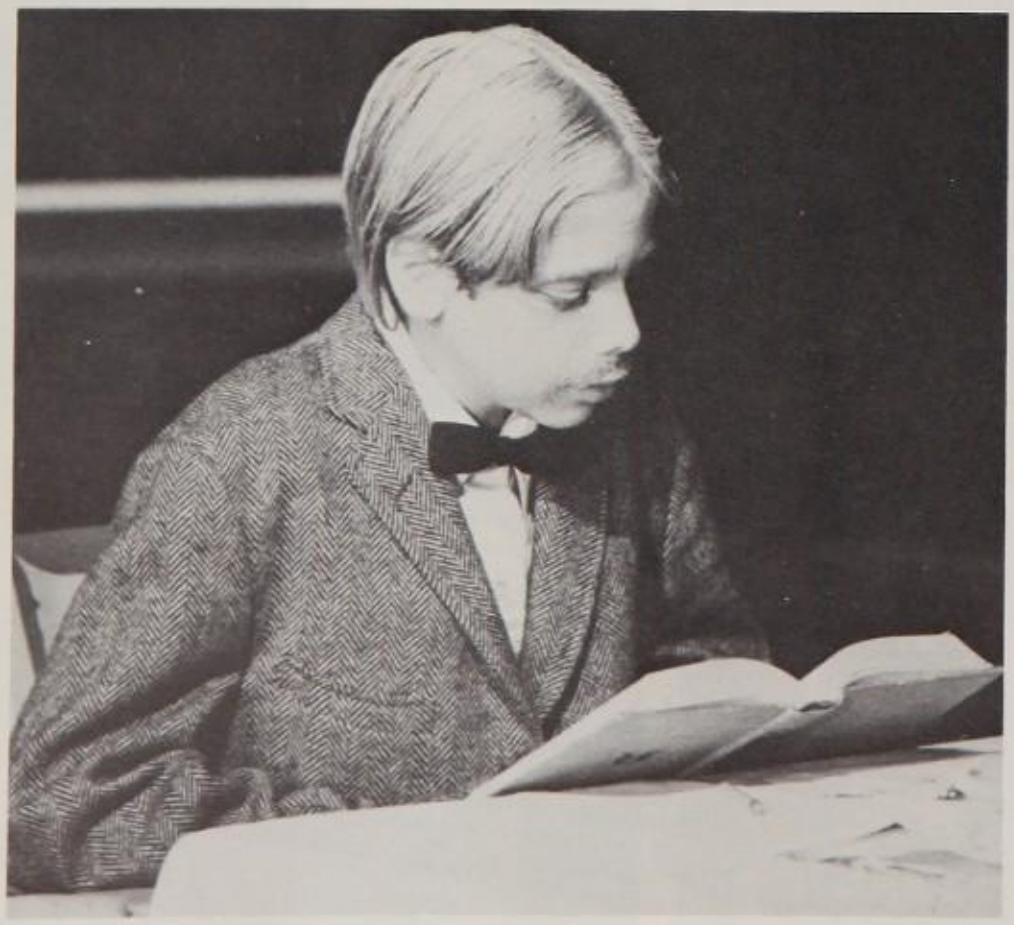
ACTIVITIES



Baby!



HC revives waning spirit

"The spirit's electric. You can feel it in this gym." So spoke football coach Murney Lazier at the annual Homecoming pep rally.

Homecoming 1973 was marked by a general revival at ETHS. The rise of spirit and interest in student activities overcame obstacles posed by cross-four rivalries, finances, timing, and publicity.

Competition between the four schools was marked by the return of class floats and the variation of student responses to activities and voting for Homecoming court nominees. Cross-four activities were victimized by a lack of money, according to Ms. Sue Baumann, Homecoming activities coordinator, so there was no possibility of revitalizing the parade of past years. But there was a mini-parade around the athletic fields before the game on Friday, October 5.

Homecoming was again controversially scheduled on the weekend of Yom Kippur. As a result, activities and the game were spread over two school afternoons, October 4-5. The pep rally on Thursday, October 4, was organized by the cross-four committee as was voting for the Homecoming Court.

Anne Churchill, Michael; Beverly Green, Beardsley; Josey Nipper, Boltwood; and Robbie Rowe, Boltwood were the winners of the all-school election for the Homecoming Court.

They reigned at the parade, which featured Beardsley's winning float, "The Abominable Willie Storms from the North," and at the Homecoming football game in which the Wildkits defeated the Proviso East Pirates, 35-0.

Yamo breaks time barrier

Yamo entered its sixteenth year in 1973, in its second year of production in the Upstairs Theater. The elaborate scenery used in previous shows was abandoned in favor of a five-screen multimedia format. This system flashed the scenery up on screens behind the actors.

This years show was entitled "Quocumque Nomine," meaning "Whatever You Like to Call It." A two act show, "Quocumque Nomine" started at the dawn of time and ended in the eighteenth century.

Yamo's political satire was "Tell It Like Is" followed by "Open the Light" sung by the Yamo Chorus. The first act ended with ETHS Auction. This was Yamo's attempt at dealing with today's crime problem.

The second act opened with "New Improved Commercials", a humorous rewrite of TV commercials. The next number, "A Kind of Oneness", was a mix of both modern and traditional music, dance, and color performed by the Yamo dance company.

The show ended with "1773," an extensive operetta about the "Sons of the Fathers of our country."

"Mama" makes appearance

For the first time in its history, the ETHS Speech Arts Department presented an all-freshman drama festival.

The festival was entitled "Act One." It was produced in order to interest the freshmen in dramatics.

"Act One" consisted of three one act plays. First on the program was "Pullman Car Hiawatha." This drama was written by Thornton Wilder and passengers. Next came A. A. Milne's "The Ugly Duckling." Directed by Robin Hinderyckx, this was a fairy tale-like love story. The third and final play was "Jogging it, Baby." This was a modern burlesque written by Bert Katz. "Jogging it, Baby" is about an All-American Jogger who makes it big and wins the world jogging championship. It was directed by Hank Keil.

The summer theater production this year was "I Remember Mama." The play was written by John Van Druten and performed by the Summer Theater Workshop. The director of the play was Mr. William Ditton.

Procession opens holiday celebration

"Ye Plum Pudding" and "Ye Beefe Wellington" were the bill of fare for the second annual Madrigal Dinner, held on the nights of December 7 and 8.

The dinner was held to raise funds for the music department. Directed by Richard Rosewall, the program consisted chiefly of choral and folk songs.

The ETHS Choir, dressed in Medieval robes, met the guests in the lobby. They were then taken up to the Old Faculty Dining Room, where the dinner took place. Highlights of the performance included "Echo Song", "Lirum, Lirum", and "In Nets of Gold".

Also in December, the Music Department produced another concert, the Holiday Music Festival. The Festival was held on the nights of December 14 and 15.

The program was directed by Milner Seifert, William Idle, Don Owens, Alvin Mistak, Richard Rosewall, Dan Spalding and Betty Jacobson. Performers included the Symphonic Band, the Concert Orchestra, and the Jazz Band.

Classic included in festival

The Speech Arts Department presented a Winter Repertory Festival for the first time this year. The three plays were rehearsed during the winter months and performed in the last week of February and the first week of March.

The three plays performed were Ring Round the Moon by Jean Anouilh, directed by Mr. William Ditton; The House of Blue Leaves by John Guare, directed by Mr. B. K. Siewerth; and Tartuffe by Molière, directed by Ms. Robin Hinderyckx.

All of the plays were of different eras, but were similar in the fact that they were all comedies. Ring Round the Moon was a romantic comedy about people searching for love. The House of Blue Leaves was a "black comedy" which took place on the unattractive side of Brooklyn. Tartuffe was a classic comedy, a 15th century play which is still relevant. This was the first time that the festival included a classic play.

The festival was presented in the Upstair's Theater, and the set, designed by Mr. Siewerth, was one of the most difficult ever constructed there. The three shows together sold over 2000 tickets.

Senior soloists sparkle

Alvin Mistak conducted the annual Winter Concert this year, which was performed on January 11 in the Auditorium.

The program featured three Senior Soloists. Michael Rosewall performed recitative and aria "But Who May Abide?" from "The Messiah" by Handel. Nancy Gustafson sang a selection from Puccini's opera "Tosca." Schumann's "Piano Concerto in A Minor" was played by Betsy Kerr.

The Band Concert was presented in the Auditorium on March 22 this year.

This was the first time in ETHS Band history that the Senior Soloist played the Tuba. Howard Praeger performed "Concertina for Tuba and Band." Highlights of the concert were "Chorale and Alleluia", by Hansen, and "Booster March," by Klein. The finale of the show was "Symphony #5" from "The New World," by Dvorak.

Hill hits territory

Through the combined efforts of both the Speech Arts and Music Departments, ETHS was again able to present a spring musical after a two-year lapse. Meredith Willson's "The Music Man" was performed in the auditorium on April 19 and 20.

The story line of the musical concerns a fast-talking swindler, Professor Harold Hill, and his attempt to sell a boys band to a town of stubborn Iowans. His plans go awry when he falls in love with the town's librarian, Marian.

The chorus of the musical was double-cast as well as the lead roles. The April 19 leads included Michael Rosewall and Nancy Gustafson as Harold and Marian, and on the 20th, Todd London and Maureen Dodson.

Mr. William Ditton directed the main body of the show, assisted by Mr. Milner Seifert and Dr. Richard Rosewall, music directors. Mr. Ditton felt that the biggest problem in the production of the show stemmed from the fact that there were nearly twice as many cast and crew members as in any of the previous shows.

Both performances of the return of the spring musical were completely sold out. The high production costs were a factor which will be considered in the decision as to whether there will continue to be an annual spring musical production such as "The Music Man."

"Doorways" was the theme of this year's Writers Showcase which was presented in the Little Theatre. Four shows were given on April 30 through May 3.

The annual show, although sponsored by the English Department, is student-written and student-directed. The material presented is chosen from among the best poetry and prose written during the year.

"It's a very thrilling experience, seeing your work on the stage", commented one writer. "It gives you a real feeling of accomplishment".

A prose highlight of the show was "The Big Snow of '67", a monograph by Sue Balculis, Class of 1975.

The Director of "Doorways" was Patti Shore, also a member of the Class of '75. The faculty advisors were Mr. David Foote and Mr. Howard Clauser.

Dancing in pool, theatre

The Esande Dance Company gave its annual performances on March 14, 15, and 16 in the Upstairs Theatre.

The company was sponsored by the Girl's Physical Education Department and directed by Ms. Doris Hay.

Seventeen Esande members performed 11 dances. Highlights were: "A Happy Birthday ... E.B.", choreographed and danced by Kathy Kline, and "Afro Rhythms," choreographed and danced by Pamela Kelly.

The Aquettes took to water this year in the natatorium on May 3 and 4. Their recital was entitled "Waterworks." The Producer/sponsor for the show was Ms. Ann Stevens. Assistant producer/sponsors were Ms. Jane Tershel and Ms. Mary Ogren. The president of Aquettes was Karen Balch.

The Aquettes "swanced" 16 numbers, including a solo by Maureen Dodson. Some highlights of the show were: "April Showers Bring May Flowers" and "Freedom and Flight, limited by nothing at all."

Modern play performed

This year's spring play had a slightly unorthodox theme. It, as Director Robin Hinderyckx said, "pulled no punches."

"A Hatful of Rain," by Michael V. Gazzo, revolves around the life of a New York drug addict and his acquisition of responsibility.

Elaborating on this theme, Ms. Hinderyckx said, "The play is summed up in Celia's, Laurie Walker's, line: 'When you love, you have to be responsible to what you love.'"

Holding lead roles were Jay Shefsky as Johnny Pope, Jr., Laurie Walker as Celia Pope, John Chappell as Polo Pope, and Doug Goodwin as Johnny Pope, Sr.

Soloists resound in festival

The Spring Musical Festival was truly varied this year as all of the 17 ETHS musical groups performed.

In addition, three senior soloists and one duet exhibited their talents.

The Festival was produced on two nights, June 7 and 8, in the Auditorium. It was directed by Bill Idle, Milner Seifert, Dan Spalding, Alvin Mistak, Lisa Brodkey, Don Owens, Betty Jacobson, and Eric Ekstedt.

Some of the groups performing were the Concert Band, the Jazz Band, the ETHS Choir and the Concert Orchestra. Highlights of the show included: "Poem", played by Adrienne Arlen; "Seeing Nellie Home", sung by the Mastersingers and "Everyone Sang", sung by the Choir, Chorus, and Freshman Glee Club.

ORGANIZATIONS

Chessmen top nationals for third year

The ETHS chess team won it's third consecutive national championship this year.

"Chess at Evanston is the best, that's all." These were the words of ETHS Chess Team Sponsor Mr. Sam Sibley after the teams victory at the National High School Chess Championship in New York.

The team's performance was truly outstanding. They won their third National Championship, a feat never performed in the Championships' history. They also scored an unprecedented 24 out of 32 possible points.

The team also won the Illinois High School Association Championship and the American High School Association Championship. But, as Sibley pointed out, "The Nationals are the important ones."

The team, which represented the ETHS Chess Club, was co-captained by Paul Clarke and Tim Fairbank.

The Chess Club, also sponsored by Mr. Sibley, had a very productive year. Its membership varied between 20 and 30. Most of the members are also members of the Evanston Chess Club.

The Bridge Club also had a distinguished season this year. The Club placed second in the North shore meet. The club was sponsored by Mr. Richard Hall.

Clubs sponsor fair, parties

This year all the Language Clubs participated in the Language Fair. The language classes also helped, the fair was established to raise money for the Language Department.

The German Club went out to dinner twice during the year, and they attended a German film festival at the Tech Institute at Northwestern. A Christmas caroling party was held in December and the group visited the Amana Colonies in Iowa.

The Hebrew Club held several programs with lectures, singing, and Israeli dancing. They held a party for a student returning from Israel, and also celebrated Israeli Independence Day on April 25.

In April, the French Club held a Pot-luck dinner with a French speaker. They also sponsored a Christmas Party at the school and served many French delicacies.

The Spanish Club sponsored a slide presentation which included singing Spanish songs. At Christmas time they held a Pinata party.

Sportsboard activities expand

In January, Sportsboard held its first winter dessert. The girls were given awards for their outstanding achievements in their fields, followed by dessert. The dessert honored the four interscholastic sports: swimming, tennis, gymnastics, and volleyball. The spring dessert, honoring basketball, badminton, track and field, and softball, was held in June. Major and minor awards, and numerals were presented at each for participation in any of the eight sports.

Girls sports grew in popularity. For the first time in several years the Olympics, girls track and field meets in the field house, was brought back. This year, Sportsboard sponsored three jamborees, a basketball free-throw contest, a ping pong tournament, and continued to encourage girls to participate in other sports, to give recognition to outstanding participants, and to plan further events.

The girl's Honors Gym classes of Senior Leaders continued their excellent curriculum. The Juniors came five days a week for their training in assisting gym classes of their choice, usually freshmen and sophomores three days a week. The Senior program entitles them to help for half the year and to take regular classes for the other half, but many girls chose to aid everyday and some all year long.

Terhune bids pool farewell

The Scuba Club took a field trip to Secor, a Scuba Equipment Manufacturer this year. In addition, the Club brought in a certified instructor to give lessons to those interested in becoming scuba divers. Slides and filmstrips were presented at Club meetings and both divers and instructors gave lectures for the group. Also, group members got together individually to scuba dive in open waters.

After thirty-six years of dedication on Saturday mornings Mr. John Terhune retired in June. The Aquatic Staff honored him, and gave him a gift.

From October until May the Aquatic Staff teaches 7-13 year old students stroke fundamentals, diving and synchronized swimming. The students are placed in stations according to their ability and as they progress in learning these skills are promoted to the next station. All stations are taught by Aquatic staff members.

Both Radio and Computer-Math clubs were taught several skills this year. The members of radio club concentrated on studying for their amateur radio licenses so that they could contact people throughout the world. By learning morse code, the language of the radio amateur, several new members acquired their licenses for the first time. Licensed members were permitted to use the school transmitter with the call sign W9ESA. The highlight of the year was an outing in which club members learned how to set up and transmit in the wilds with generator power.

Computer-Math club concentrated on teaching members how to program a computer. By using Fortan, one computer language, students were able to communicate and get responses from computers, including the one at the school.

Michael sets pace for councils

Participation in student councils saw a marked increase this year. The Blood Drive led the major activities of Michael council again. The newly established Central Communications sponsored a 50's sockhop and a spring carnival.

Besides being a sponsor of the blood drive, Michael school also sponsored concerts featuring Redwood Landing and Larry Rand, a tricycle race, and numerous activities as benefits for the Forgotten Children's Fund.

The Beardsley Council had a 50's dance in November with music by Saturday June. Prizes were awarded for best costume and dancing. The council also initiated a tutoring service with students helping other students during their free mods. Midyear, Mr. James Kregg, Beardsley mathematics teacher, became the council's advisor.

Boltwood Council sponsored the Boltwood court clean-up. It was designed to make the court usable by the students, and consisted mostly of the cleaning away of pebbles. The work was done by Boltwood students with the aid of Mr. Melvin Pettit's office. Boltwood also sponsored a film festival featuring W. C. Fields and Laurel and Hardy.

The Bacon Council sponsored many movies this year including "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," "The Getaway," and Marx Brothers' movies.

Staffs adjust publications to times, needs

Quality and quantity were the striking points of the student newspaper this year. The Evanstonian changed from 4-page weekly to 8-page bi-weekly issues for the first time in at least 12 years. The change was made in order to improve the general polish and quality of the paper, to achieve a more in-depth tone, and to save money. "We aren't under as much deadline pressure, so we have more time for developing and researching stories," commented staff advisor Mr. John Reque. With more time available, the staff expanded its coverage of school-related problems and published two 12-page issues.

While the quantity of issues decreased, the number of student staff members grew. 23 seniors made up one of the largest editorial staffs ever on The Evanstonian, while 60 junior reporters worked on the paper. As well, Editor-in-Chief David Dominik won a Quill and Scroll National Award for editorial writing.

ETHS's yearbook, The Key, also experienced some changes. A record number of yearbook sales was attributed mainly to the inclusion of The Key on fee statements, according to Editor-in-Chief Claire Grossman. Though the cost was an optional addition, twice as many books were sold as last year.

For the first time only hardback books were sold in order to ease printing and distributional problems. The problem of timing was also relieved by another first: the formal formation of a scheduled, non-credit, class period for Key staff editors.

As problems were solved, the number of pictures taken increased. Not only were previously unphotographed boys' and girls' teams given space in the book, but the number of senior pictures taken was so great that the color senior section had to be expanded to accommodate the response.

The year prepared The Key for a significant loss, however. It was Mr. Ron Markwell's last year as yearbook advisor. During the year he trained Mr. Robert Roth, Michael English teacher, as his replacement for the position which he'd held since 1968.

Christie skis to Jackson Hole

BLACK

Christie Ski Club had a very successful year in 1973-4 with a large turnout of members. The group was large enough to be split into two smaller ones: a beginners group, taught by Mr. Knox and Ms. Rizzo, and an advanced group taught by Ms. Catterall and Ms. Kaplan. The beginners took evening ski trips to help gain and improve their skills. The group took trips to such places as Telmark, Majestic Hills, and Jackson Hole, Wyoming. In order to raise money for these trips, the group sponsored donut sales. The club also sponsored their first annual picnic.

Organization Black was also very successful this year. To raise money they also sponsored donut sales, and other fund raising projects. At several meetings there were guest speakers who covered a variety of topics which interested the club. Organization Black also sponsored a Black Cultural Arts Festival which included various plays related to black culture and history.

Ensemble leadership changes

The Recorder Ensemble came under new leadership this year. Music Department head Dr. Richard Rosewall replaced Mr. Sampen as director.

"It (the Ensemble) is more of an informal club than anything else," said Dr. Rosewall. "We get together about once a week to rehearse."

Due to the lack of rehearsal time, the Ensemble was only able to perform twice this year. They played at the Madrigal Dinner and at a community concert for a senior citizens group.

The Vocational Services Department, which consists of Distributive Education, Vocational Experience, and Office Occupations, made several changes this year. One of these was the purchase of new transcribers which allow the O.O. students to use modern equipment.

TECHNICAL CREW

CROO
CROO

The Daily Bulletin moved to a new time this year. It was broadcast at the end of sixth mod. The bulletin became more serious this year according to broadcaster Shelly Goldstein, as it interrupted classes and "wanted to get it over with." The bulletin staff was headed by sponsor Mr. Brent Neff who selected members on the basis of voice quality and performance in Radio/T.V.

Ms. Leubitz supervised the Debate Team for the third time this year. She was aided by a Northwestern Debator, Ronald Marmer, who served as Assistant Coach.

The Novice Team won two first places and the Junior Varsity team won six. The varsity team entered state finals. "Because of the success of the Juniors that debated this year," one member commented," Evanston is anticipating another strong Varsity Team next year."

The technical crew was the largest and most organized it has ever been. The director, Mr. B. K. Sieworth, designed ten sets and directed two theatre productions, the most he has ever taken on in one year. The set for the Winter Repertory Festival was the most difficult ever designed and the Yamo '73 set was the most innovative. About the crew Mr. Sieworth said, "I am lucky to have them. I couldn't have designed such complex sets if I didn't have such a competent group."

Season Record Won 7 Lost 1

The ETHS varsity football team had an outstanding season this year, marred by only one loss.

The Kits came in second in the Suburban League after losing to New Trier East. The loss, which was actually the loss of a mouthguard, still allowed the Kits to be rated #2 in the state at the season's end.

1973 also saw the ETHS gridders place 13 players on the All-Suburban League Team. On offense they were Jim Ossyra, Robert Welch, John Futris, Jim Skinner, Joe Stewart, Brian Rosinski, and Bob Schwartz. The defensive players were Glen Turner, Mike Kenn, Ray Pigozzi, Steve Molitor, John Lynk, and Tom Fitzgibbons. Halfback Joe Stewart and Defensive Tackle Mike Kenn were also nominated to the All-State Team.

During the course of their 7-1 season, the team scored an incredible aggregate 227 offensive points to 22 for the combined opposition.

"We had an excellent team this year," said Coach Murney Lazier. "Our club was integrated and sophisticated. We went into our games outweighed, but we beat our opponents nevertheless."

The Junior Varsity team had a record of 6-0 which was good for the League championship. The sophomores' was 3-3-2. Freshman A was 5-2 while Freshman B went 3-4.

Season Record
Won 6 Lost 7 Tie 2

"We started out the season worse than we expected and ended it better than we expected". It was in this way that Dr. Kenneth Mcgonagle, coach of the ETHS Varsity Soccer team, summed up the 1973 soccer season.

The booters, who posted a respectable 6-7-2 record, were slightly short-handed this year. Coach Mcgonagle said that although the player turnout had been as high as ever before, ETHS lost a lot of players because of "people moving, injuries, and other such occurrences".

As Mcgonagle said, the team greatly improved after the somewhat disheartening first half of the season. In the latter half, the Kits won 4 straight, finishing the season with a 1-1 tie against mighty New Trier East. NTE, however advanced on cornerkicks 5-4.

This year, ETHS placed 3 players on the All-Suburban League Team. They were Bob Blecher, Larry Ganet, and Ray Kean.

Coach Mcgonagle, although pleased with the team's overall performance, was slightly discontented with its scoring capacity." We didn't seem to have that scoring punch this year" he explained. "We controlled the ball and kept the pressure on them, but we weren't able to get the ball into their (the opposing team's) net."

The JV had a 6-2-2, the Sophomores were 10-3-1, Freshman A was 9-1 while Frosh B was 7-1.

Harriers keep winning pace

The Evanston varsity cross country team kept up its winning tradition in the 73-74 season by compiling a 6-2 record and taking second in the Suburban League.

The Harriers were also consistently tough in the important invitationals taking 1st at Zion Benton, Rich Central, Evanston, and 2nd at Barrington.

The team was led by co-captains Dave Jackson and Dave Olson and the Evanston Harriers took 5th in their sectional and 15th in the state meet (out of four hundred schools,) while Jackson took 28th and Olson 31st.

Next year Ed Traisman, Curt Pollock and Rick Pildes will return adding experience to the team. Rick Pildes took 1st in the Evanston Invitational, and Claude Brannon is a promising sophomore. Coach Chuck Peters commented about the team, "As a group they're top quality individuals and extremely dedicated. We hope for another excellent season next year."

Regional Tournament Champions

The Evanston varsity basketball team with four juniors in the starting line-up made their way to the finals of the Arlington sectional before being eliminated by eventual Elite Eight member Hersey.

The Kits ended their regular season with an 11-9 mark overall and a mediocre 5-5 record in Suburban League play. Post season tournament play included victories over Niles East and North in Regional play and an upset win over Wheeling in the opening round of the Sectional.

Seniors Joe Stewart and Dean Perrin leave with Stewart being voted to the honorable mention list of the all Suburban League team, and Perrin completing his third year of varsity ball. The Kits big story this year however was the outstanding performances of juniors Larry Lubin, Dean Brown, Brian McCasslin, and Nat Page. Lubin was voted to the first team of all-league players, with Brown and McCaslin being chosen for the second and third teams respectively.

With these four outstanding players returning to the line-up, Coach Jack Burmaster feels chances "are good for a state championship next year. I haven't had this many returning starters since we won the championship back in 1968."

Icemen victorious in state

In Coach John Terhune final year as the ETHS Water Polo coach, the team placed 2 players on the All-State squad. Center Clark Speed, and sophomore center-forward Fritz Wiegman won the All-State honors and guided their team to a fine third place performance in the State Tournament. Practices were held before and after school, and as Coach Terhune commented, "our ability in ball handling and shooting was as good as any of our previous years."

Equally as successful this year were the ETHS icemen who battled to become first in the state after a season of 12-8. Ray Pigozzi made the All-League team. Coach Nat Bilski attributed the success of the hockey team to such players as Pigozzi, and to the enthusiasm and excellent interteam lay within the entire squad.

The ETHS Tankers ended an otherwise good season of winning two-thirds of the dual meets, with an unimpressive showing in the State Meet, which was held in the ETHS Natatorium on March 1 and 2. Chris Bennett made the finals of the meet with a career best in the 50 yard freestyle of 22.2 seconds. Bennett, a junior, placed second in that event.

Other Evanston participants in that meet were Peter Groepper, who took ninth in the 100 yard fly, and two relay teams which placed fifth and twelfth. Seniors Dave Judelson, Jeff Burton, and Clarke Speed contributed much to the success of these relays.

Creek, Trippel excel in state

Once again the Evanston gymnasts held up the tradition of Evanston gymnastics. The barmen won for the eleventh year out of twelve, their district and sectional meets sizably. The team also came in second in the Suburban League, and came in eighth place in the state meet led by seniors Bob Creek and Mark Trippel. Creek posted an olympic score of 9.3 taking first place on the horizontal bar in the meet. Trippel, who took fourth in the free exercise and fifth in the all-around competition, also won the outstanding senior gymnast of the year award presented by the Illinois High School Gymnastics Association. The award was based on sportmanship, achletic ability, and scholastic achievement.

Grapplers' success surges

The Evanston Wrestling team completely reversed the previous season's record, and came up with a 12-5-1 record.

Coach Elias George commented, "This year was a very good year. We had a good program, and the boys really worked hard. The guys out this year weren't necessarily great wrestlers, but they were good guys who were willing to work hard."

The Kits were led by seniors Tom Bixby, John Futris, and Jerry Whittaker. Whitaker was the only matman who made it through the sectionals to the state finals, where he took fifth place.

The lower levels also had winning seasons which raises hopes for the Kits continued success.

Kits co-champion state crown

This year holding second place in indoor Suburban League as well as clinching first place in outdoor Suburban League and District meets, the Kits climaxed their season by becoming co-champions for first place in state. The Kits share their title with Lane Tech.

Shining through at the state meet were seniors Joe Stewart and Dave Jackson who won first place in 220 yard dash and first place in 880 yard run respectively. Junior Nat Page jumped 6'10½" to break the state high jump record. This year's Trib All Star Team includes Joe Stewart, Dave Jackson, Nat Page, Chris Spence, and the 880 relay team of Bennett Gray, Fenton Gunter, Jon Underwood, and Steve Jambois.

The outstanding individual talent of "11 potential Suburban League starters" was the basic ingredient of a "really great" baseball team this year according to Coach Ken McGonagle.

But, the combined efforts of players working together was responsible for the Wildkits' 18-4 record, the best in ETHS history.

The team won the Evanston districts, but lost their chance to go downstate in a regional game against Niles West. Tying Proviso East for second place in Suburban League, the Kits dealt first place New Trier East its only loss.

Frank Goldak, Kevin McPhilliamy, Keith Rosenblum, Brian Rosinski, and Steve Shevick made all-Suburban for Evanston. Shevick was also voted Most Valuable Player by the team.

Netters build strength

After an unexpected loss to LaGrange in their opening meet, the Netters continued a remarkable season. Rick Weissbourd, Bruce Berman and Jay Covington led the team with excellent seasons. Larry Lubin and David Shanks represented ETHS in the State Tournament. Coach Anderson reflected on the team's performance, saying this was their best year since 1970.

ETHS Duffer's record was equally impressive. Their average for the year was 4 and 4. Senior Jim Powell represented ETHS in the State Tournament and won a noteworthy second place.

Lacrosse, Rugby triumph

This year Evanston added the sport of Rugby to its list of many others. Rugby is a game closely related to football. The game uses an oval ball which may be passed, dribbled with the feet, or carried.

The team consisted of thirty-seven enthusiastic players, all led by Mr. Bruce Mitchell.

Even though it was the first year for ETHS in Rugby, the team was in the playoffs for first place. Mr. Mitchell attributed the success of the team to the high enthusiasm they all had.

Lacrosse, another sport with large participation at ETHS, did very well this year. Their final record was 5-0. Their opponents included New Trier East, Oak Park, and New Trier West. Coach Lazier claimed outstanding players to be Jim Ossyra and Terry O'Mally.

The sophomores and freshman also had good seasons, competing against Varsity squads due to the lack of squads from other schools.

League competition spurs hopes

In the second year of girls' interscholastic sports competition, the Swimming and Tennis teams participated in their first Suburban League conference meets.

The girls' Swimming Team, coached by Ms. Jane Tershel, was held to a 3-2 record, despite the fact that they posted some of the fastest times in the state. The team, consisting of mostly freshmen, took third place in the Suburban League.

The Tennis team posted an identical season record of 3 wins and 2 losses, taking third place in their conference. Many of the team members are in the Excellence Tennis Program and Coach Bergwall expects success next season.

Gymnasts sweep conference

The ETHS girls Gymnastics team gave Evanston sports its first perfect season this year, as they captured the Suburban League title with a record of 7-0.

Outstanding scores for the season ranged as high as 8.8 out of a possible 10. Several girls made consistently high scores in single events and all-around competition. These girls included Connie Kitazumi, Sue Skolly, Intermediate; Meg Davis, Mary Kleschen, Beginner.

The success of the girls volleyball team was not necessarily evident in the team's overall record, however the team did constructive rebuilding internally. Coach Trisha Hammer placed more emphasis on the development of skills. Each day the girls ran through the gym and locker room area. This helped build endurance even though there was limited running room. This started the tradition of girls athletic teams running through the gym area every day before practice.

Girls smash, swish to victory

Once again the Evanston girls badminton team finished the season with an undefeated, nearly perfect season. Only two matches were lost in Suburban League competitors and the girls ended up with 48 out of 50 possible conference points. The team's efforts culminated in the Suburban League conference meet at Evanston which was held for the first time in the history of interscholastic badminton competition. The three singles players and two doubles teams representing ETHS swept the meet with a 10-0 victory. It was also the first for coach Barbara Bergwall who continued Evanston's winning tradition. Both singles and doubles had depth, as fifteen out of the twenty-four team members were seniors.

This year was the first year for a complete season of competition for the girl's basketball team. Not only was it the first year of a full schedule, but it was the first year for coach Phyllis Wideman. Although the team finished third in Suburban League standings, it has excellent potential. The toughest games came first in the season and the team was not fully used to playing together. As the season closed, things began to connect, and coach Wideman felt they shouldn't have been beaten at the start of the season. Out of 23 team members only 3 are seniors, and the starting varsity squad was entirely underclassmen. The cagers are all young and optimistic about the future.

Track team captures conference

The softball team, coached by Ms. Wideman, consisted of twenty-six players, the majority of which were sophomores and juniors. The enthusiastic team played through mud and rain; only two games were played under sunny skies.

The girls were very hard workers and the Junior Varsity team, in particular, progressed a great deal throughout the season.

The eighth interscholastic sport was added this year. The track team had forty-five girls; most of them were freshmen and sophomores, coached by Ms. Huff. Although track is an individual sport, there was great team spirit. The team competed in three dual meets, which they won by surprising majorities. They won the Suburban League Conference Meet and then went on to win fourth place in the district meet in which ninteen schools participated. Ten members of the team qualified for the State Meet which contained 270 schools and 890 girls. In one relay we paced 1:47.8, breaking the state record.

Abundance of rah-rahs recognized

ETHS had a surplus of girls in orange and blue this year, as an extra Varsity squad of eight girls was added to the existing two squads. These girls brought needed spirit and enthusiasm to the oft-neglected sport of Soccer. Both Varsity squads cheered at Basketball games, alternating squads from one game to the next.

Both the Cheerleaders and the Willies, the squad of girls who portray the ETHS mascot, gave a dinner to welcome the New Trier East Cheerleaders to ETHS.

The Willie Wildkit squad sold doughnuts and pom-poms in order to raise money for the Wildkit costume.

Variety of intramurals offered

After-school intramurals offer a wide variety of sports to ETHS students, without the hassle of grades and classroom competition. Students from their own teams, then compete against other teams in tournaments.

This year the intramural program included many sports. Some of the more popular ones were softball, basketball, floor hockey, flag football, archery, girl's free swim, co-ed volleyball, roller skating, and a largely participated co-ed badminton tournament.

The boys program was highlighted by "super" star contests and the annual free-throw contest. This was the first year for a girl's free-throw contest in addition to the regular intramural gymnastic, swim, and olympic track meet.

Graduation, prom top senior year

Thursday, June 6 was the date for this year's senior prom. Between 8:30 and 10:00, elegantly-clad seniors and scattered underclassmen and college students filled the grand ballroom of the Palmer House Hotel. The $8.00 bids were bought and pictures taken as the seniors appeared in either their coats and ties, tuxedoes, or formal gowns. The Sons of Slum provided entertainment and there were complimentary refreshments. The tradition and mystique of prom was apparent this year as the turnout was large and enthusiastic.

Over one thousand one hundred seniors graduated on June 12th and 13th from ETHS in four separate ceremonies this year. Evanston's ninty-first commencement consisted of Michael and Boltwood graduating on Wednesday at 5:00 and 8:00 respectively, and Beardsley and Bacon on Thursday at similar times. Each school had their own graduation committee that planned the events of each school. Michael School's ceremony consisted of an oral interpretation by Anne Churchill and Arthur Hofstetter, a duet by Maureen Dodson and Michael Rosewall, and speeches by six students on the theme "Caring."

Boltwood graduation saw a dance number performed by Florence Brown and Penelope Jay, and a suite of flute pieces by Erica Lippitz, as well as three addresses by Boltwood seniors.

Beardsley School Commencement included several speeches, a jazz ensemble performing an original piece by 2 Beardsley seniors, a flute quartet, and a solo by Nancy Gustafson. The exercises concluded with "Rise, Rise for Evanston."

Bacon's program consisted of seven speeches a flute and song number, a solo dance by Pamela Kelley, and a humorous dialogue by Janet and Margaret Kinzer.
